VICTORIA, B. C., February 14 .-Seldom indeed is it that a record of speed established by any war ship on her trial trip, with all conditions favorable, is equaled or surpassed in ordinary steaming. Such, how-ever, is the exceptional distinction won by the San Francisco built flagship Olympia, in regard to whose flying run from Yokohama to Kobe the Japanese press are devoting paragraphs of praise.

"The clouds grew denser in the evening, and faint flashes of lightning were frequent. About 10 o'clock the clouds began to clear away, and they disappeared so rapidly that in a few minutes the stars were chining brightly all over the sky, not a cloud being visible anywhere. Between 10 and 11 o'clock the western sky began to grow black with leavy clouds that roll. IO and 11 o'clock the western sky began to grove block with heavy clouds that roll-cd rapidly up from behind the hills. With them came tharp flashes of lightning, fol lowed quickly by terrific thunderclops. A peculiarity of the lightning was the long duration of its flashes, the black clouds being illumined several seconds at a time. "While the inky clouds were forming in the west and rolling up toward the zenith, with the accompaniment of glaring lightning and crashing flunder, the moon appeared above the summits of the high hill in the east and bathed them and the smooth waters of Lake Keuka, whiel stretch away from their feet, in a flood or mellow light. Thus a howling tempost, with rain falling in sheets in the full light of the moon became another rare and startling phe someon attending this night of strang meteorological conditions.

The moon shining brightly on the falling rain had its natural sequence—the casting upon the ebeny front of the ald vancing stormelouds of a lunar rainbow of singular vividness and brilliancy. The bow had a grand sweep of almost the entire front of the black background, and its sudden reappearance aften the flashed ceased, seemingly more vivid than ever against the inky blackness, formed a kaleidoscopic picture in the heavens such as the elements seldom combine to present.

The black clouds rolled on with flerces lightning and louder thunder. Before they had advanced far enough to obscure the moon and the eastern sky their western extremity had swept clear of the sky in that direction, and then the stars show out brightly upon the retreating clouds.

in that direction, and then the stars show out brightly upon the retreating clouds. Then appeared the probably unheard of sight of a bright, starry key in the west the sky overhead hidden by clouds of the blackest hae, in fierce electrical commotion, and spanned by a many colored mid night rainbow; in the cast the moon shining brightly in a cloudless sky, illuminating a tempest tessed lake, and a torrent of whiter rain from summer clouds.

"The sweeping tunnit of clouds soon took possession of the glowing east, and for a long time the terrille thanderstorm raged, dying away at last in distant rumbings behind the hills, leaving the lake as calm and golden in the light of the moon as it was before the strange storm had come down upon it in its audden win try wrath."—New York Sun.

GENERAL DEBILITY and Indigestion

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some few years ago I suffered terribly with indigestion and gen-eral debility. I could not sleep, and my condition was such as to and my condition was such as to make my life miserable. None of the many remedies I tried did me any good, and I despaired of ever getting better. One of my friends told me of the blood-purifying and strength-giving properties of Ayer's 'Sarsaparilla, and I began taking it. Before I had finished the first bottle I felt better, and was thus encouraged to give the medicine a thorough trial. In all I used four bottles, and then was perfectly cared of the grievous trouble which had afflicted me. I now recommend, to anyone me. I now recommend, to anyone for the Chicago Herald, and his office in New York City is at No. 50 Tribune Building. He is a strong, virile man, not the sort of person to often require medicines; and is specially opposed to pills of any sort, finding them too violent n their action. In case of any irregularity he had always. relied upon the use of fruits, until one day on a railway journey a friend directed his attention to Ripan's Tabules and gave him some from a box he had in his portmanteau. He made use of them when occasion offered, and the result in his case was all that could be desired. He now depends upon Ripan's Tabules entirely in the case of any irregularity of the wels or derangement of the digestive apparatus. Mr. Eiker is a picture of health and manly vigor, is a hearty eater, and he regards a Tabule after a hearty meal as a sort of insurance policy against future ills of any sort.

Slik beaver hats seem to be meeting with a success which is not warranted by their beauningness or wearing qualities. The beaver shapes nearly all have a belt crown, whether it be high or low, and many have the regular carded brim, like a man's. It is rather incongruous to see such a hat trimmed with white lace, paste huckles and bathers, but such adormnents are employed. It may be as well to remind women that nothing looks so shabby and untily as a damaged slik hat, whether

Hold Their Own.

A new French model for a hat has a wide brim, dipped down at the sides and turned completely up at the back, the space being filled in with violets. The hair must be worn lose at the sides with this style of hat.

Velvet is much used for trimming purposes, both in the form of ribbon and in bias bands lined with buckram. These bands are used to trim the seams of skirts and are also employed longitudinally on and are also employed longitudinally or bodices. Velvet collars and cuffs are used on wood fabrics of all sorts as well as on slik on wool fabries of all sorts as well as on slik.

Lace is lavishiy employed for the adornment of almost everything in the wardrobe.

Gowns of silk or fine wool are trimmed with wide ince, either fulled on or applied flat, which is the newer way.

Steeves, although somewhat less aggressive than they were last year, still hold their own very steadily in point of size, and these is little respect of their because slbows, but are still quite full at the top. The portion from wrist to elbow is close fitting and is in many cases entirely untrimmed. Some sleeves, however, have deep, turned back cuffs; others have buttons, and still others have bows and bands of velvet or lace or passomenterie. Large puffs from shoulder to elbow are seen on costumes of light material, but tailor gowns and cloth dresses have the drooping effect already mentioned.

The illustration shows a remarkable costume, composed of material having a silk boucle plaid of black on a red satin ground. The godet skirt has a marrow, plaited panel of royal blue velvet on either side of the tablier. The bodies of red satin, embroidered with black, is adorned with lengthwise blue velvet draperies, which are gathered in under a pointed conselet of blue velvet. The 1830 sleeves, of goods like the skirt, are plaited flat over the shoulders and have a deep cuff of red satin embroidered with black. The draped collar is of time velvet. The hat accompanying this gown is of red velvet, adorned with paste ornaments and black feathers.

JUDIC CHOLLET. JUDIC CHOLLET.

An American girl who has fived in Paris declares that that great metropolis is absolutely provincial and countrified in many respects. Here in Chicago one may go her way undisturbed though she wears a tub on her head, but there one has to subscribe to the traditions.

The girl in question tells how at one time she bought a pretty little felt cap, very much like a Tam o'Shanter, in the Latin quarter. Naturally, having bought it, she put it on her head and went out. Now it seems that these particular hats were worn only by more them.
